Summer Funding for International Internships in Population and Reproductive Health

Call for Applications for 2006

The Fred H. Bixby Program in Population and Reproductive Health will be funding selected UCLA School of Public Health students for summer internships in international population and reproductive health during summer 2006. Arrangements for your internship must already be made with the organization with which you will work. Your internship must be outside of the United States and must focus on family planning, reproductive health, or population and environment.

Applications for internship funding should be 2-3 pages maximum and should include:

- A complete description of the internship and the organization with which you plan to work (including what you will be doing, the dates you will be there, and the contact information of your preceptor)
- A description of your academic standing, including your GPA to date at UCLA/SPH
- A budget showing the amount of funding you need (maximum $3000) and what you plan to use it for.
- The name, phone number, and e-mail address of your faculty advisor
- A brief description of your post-UCLA/SPH career plans

Students receiving funding will be featured in 2006-7 on the Bixby Program website (http://bixbyprogram.ph.ucla.edu). They are required to submit 3-4 photographs from their field site and a brief (2 page) statement on their internship (suitable for use on the website) by October 15, 2006. Students receiving funding from the Bixby program will also be required to return with a letter from their preceptor(s) stating whether they would be interested in having a UCLA SPH summer intern in 2007.

Applications are due by 4pm on Thursday, May 11, 2006 and should be sent to Rachel Veerman c/o rveerman@soc.ucla.edu. Only electronic applications will be accepted. Please write “Application for Summer Funding” in the subject line. Decisions will be made and applicants notified by May 25, 2006.
